

ROE Visual Wraps Up Cheerful LDI 2022

Showcasing the Newest LED Innovations on the Show Floor

Chatsworth, USA (November 2022) – ROE Visual is excited to welcome a wonderful end at the LDI show on November 20, 2022. Seizing the excellent opportunity to demonstrate the latest LED technology as the ideal display solution for live event applications and more, the team is grateful to meet each participant in person and gather together for a great time.

Returning to the LDI show, ROE Visual came with an array of LED products and comprehensive audiovisual solutions at booth #1530, allowing attendees to experience the most recent trends and products within the live event industry. The most exciting and memorable part is always connecting with the visitors and exploring the future of the industry through such an influential platform.

After a scaled-back exhibition last year, the ROE Visual team was thrilled to design and create an incredible expanded booth. The brilliant members came up with the idea of showcasing more LED series at the booth so that the visitors can see more flexible choices for various applications in live design and beyond. The centerpiece of the booth was a large, curved wall constructed of cinema-grade Black Pearl BP2V2 panels (21ft x 12ft), which delivered unparalleled visual performances. The screens on both sides include some excellent rental products, Carbon MarkII, Graphite 2.6, Ruby 1.5, and Vanish, all showing their striking features on the rental stages.

The attendees could find preferred LED solutions that adapt to various spaces, from touring and events to virtual production. The stunning visuals on the screens have attracted much attention and interest from visitors. During the three-day trip, the team received many compliments on the fantastic LED products.

“What a great LDI show! We feel excited to participate in the exhibition, which is a remarkable chance to connect face-to-face with our friends. Gathering together, the team had nice chats with them and received lots of positive feedback on those panels,” states Frank Montero, Managing Director of ROE Visual US. “We can’t wait to see their amazing use in coming projects.”

Thanks to every attendee for their participation at LDI 2022! It was an honor to meet customers, partners, and friends on the show floor. ROE Visual keeps its values to continuously deliver ideal display solutions for worldwide applications.
